For Free Settlement

Large tract of good valley farming land just thrown open for free settlement, in Oregon. Over 200,000 acres in all. Good climate, rich soil, and does not require irrigation to raise finest crops of grain, fruit, and garden truck. For large map, full instructions of exceptionally good claims, send $3.40 to John Keele, Eugene, Oregon; three years a U. S. surveyor and timberman. An opportunity to get a good fertile free homestead near town and market.

Sheriff and Ex-Officio Trustee's Sale

Whereas, John A. Morse, a single man, by his deed of trust, dated October 1, 1910, filed for record December 10, 1910, and recorded in the Recorder's office of Morgan county, Missouri, in deed of trust record, Book 25, page 191, conveyed to Wm. Neumuller, as trustee, all his right, title and interest and estate in and to the following described real estate, situated in the county of Morgan and state of Missouri, viz: The south half of the northeast quarter and the east half of the southeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section nine (9), township forty-one (41), range seventeen (17), containing one hundred acres, more or less, in trust, to secure the payment of the promissory note therein described.

And whereas, it is provided in said conveyance that in case the trustee therein named refused to act, that the acting sheriff of Morgan county should then assume and perform the duties of said trustee, succeeding and performing all the duties of said trustee:

And whereas, the trustee named in said conveyance, Wm. Neumuller, has refused to act, his refusal being in writing and by me held, and the note in said conveyance being long past due and unpaid, and so remains unpaid, now therefore, in pursuance of aforesaid conveyance and at the request of the legal holder of the note thereby secured, I hereby give notice that I will, at the north front door of the court house, in the city of Versailles, county of Morgan, state of Missouri, and on the twenty first day of August 1914, between the hours of nine in the forenoon and five in the afternoon, sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash in hand the real estate above described, to satisfy the said note and interest thereon and the expenses of executing this trust. Dated, this 27th day of July 1914.

W. J. WILLIAMS,
Sheriff of Morgan county, Mo., and Ex-officio Trustee.

Preserving Eggs for Winter Use

By C. A. Webster.

Eggs preserved in a water-glass solution will keep almost perfectly for several months. They will poach nearly as well as fresh eggs although the taste is a trifle more flat after long storage. These are the conclusions of the Missouri College of Agriculture after a careful investigation of various methods of storing eggs for winter use.

Water-glass is purchased in the liquid form. Druggists commonly retail it at twenty-five cents a quart, and one quart is enough to preserve twenty dozens of eggs. For this number a five-gallon stone or earthenware crock is the most satisfactory receptacle. Heat ten quarts of water to boiling point and allow it to cool. Then pour the water into the crock, add one quart of water-glass and mix the two. The solution is then ready for the eggs. Place the eggs in the water-glass solution each day as soon as they are laid. Use only naturally clean, not washed, fresh eggs. When the crock is filled to within two inches of the top of the solution, cover and store in a cool dry place until winter.

By this method eggs may be stored during spring and summer when they are relatively cheap and production is high, for use during winter when prices are high and production is low. Farmer and townsman alike may save many dollars by this method of cheap storage of eggs. It is of the greatest importance that the eggs used should be absolutely fresh. Water-glass will not make bad eggs good, but will keep good eggs from becoming bad.

In Memoriam

Versailles Lodge No. 192, Knights of Pythias.

Whereas, It has pleased our Heavenly Father, in his infinite wisdom, to remove from amongst us our esteemed brother and fellow member who died August, 9, 1914, and,

JOSEPH TUCKLEY

Whereas, The life that made our association with him pleasant is at an end, and the gates of death are closed upon our further intercourse; and,

Whereas, By his many ennobling traits of character he has endeared himself to us, and in his career has left an example to his friends and fellow members; and,

Whereas, Those manly qualifications which he possessed influence us in a sincere desire to testify to an appreciation of his life amongst us; be it therefore

Resolved, That in the death of Joseph Tuckley, who was a member of Versailles Lodge No. 192, Knights of Pythias, we sincerely deplore the loss of one to whom we had become affectionately attached by long association and by relations which were never marred by the least occurrence of an unfriendly act.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be presented to the relatives of the deceased, and that the same be attached to and become a part of the minutes of this order.

Tried and Found Wanting

At last, and after many weary weeks for the people and the candidates, the primaries have come and gone and the nominations for office on the various tickets have been made. Outside the limited circle of successful candidates the universal sentiment with reference to this new system of making nominations could accurately be summed up in three simple words: Darn the primary!

Wherever it has been tried the primary system has proved a sore and general disappointment. It is the very thing the man of average means, whose chances it was designed to protect and promote, does not want. To play the game from first to last is a most expensive pastime. The man of average means has no business monkeying with it. It victorious, the office, nine times out of ten, isn't worth the price.

Moreover—and this is one of the big objections to be urged against it—the primary is practically nobodys business which means that nobody pays much attention to it, whereas the convention system is Representative and therefore in harmony with the American system of government—the best sort of government of any yet devised by man. "It is well to note," says a writer in the August North American Review, "that the soundness of the theory of the nominating convention is seldom or never disputed."

It must be conceded, as it will not be disputed, that certain evils have been neither eliminated or lessened by the adoption of the new, or primary system.

Plainly the thing to do is to revert to the convention or representative method of making nominations, throwing around it such restrictions as will insure the people the greatest amount of freedom in the selection of candidates without abrogating representative principle, which is fundamental in our form of government.—Springfield Republican.

Resisting the Holy Spirit

(By W. F. Baugh)

There are many people who believe in God, but they resist the Holy Spirit because they don't want to humble themselves by confessing their sins and acknowledge Christ as their Savior. They try to put away their convictions, by thinking they can get along without the confession. But they are grieving God, for does He not say, "My Spirit shall not always strive with men?" There are some who are so stiff-necked that they fight against God! They don't want to listen to His pleadings. They harden their hearts to the "still small voice," and such as they are crucifying Christ in secret. Some have hope of being saved by good works. They lend a helping hand to their neighbors, are honest, do no man wrong, and are charitable, give to the needy, but without the real cause in their hearts. They are trying to purchase their safety with money, but money does not count with God. Peter said to Simon, "Thy money perish with thee, because thou hast thought that the gift of God may be purchased with money." It is by grace we are saved through faith, not through self-righteousness. Some say "I am satisfied, I am all right, I am as good as any church members; I do not need a Savior." But they are fearfully wrong, for they are robbers. They don't want to seek the open door. They want to climb up and enter some other way, but there is no other way. There isn't but one way for Jesus says, "I am the way, no man cometh unto the Father but by me."

There are too many skeptics who want to get to heaven the easiest way; don't want to read but the softest parts of the Bible. When the reading becomes too personal they turn over a leaf; don't like to read about repentance; don't like to read about sin, the devil or hell. Some would like to eliminate the word hell from the Bible and in fact some men did meet at a Bible conference awhile back and passed a resolution that the word hell should be stricken from the Bible. But read your Bibles carefully and prayerfully and then ask yourself, should the word hell be stricken from it? Most assuredly not. Though the thoughts of hell make one shudder it is as God intended it to be, and man has no authority to take away or add to God's Word. The true follower of Jesus has no fears of hell. It is the wicked that will have to bear the consequence. If only the doubters would read and meditate on God's Word, there is no doubt but what they would repent and accept Jesus as their Savior.—Gospel Herald.

The preacher who says what God wants and what his congregation needs is filling his place admirably. In this, as in all other things, we all fall short because of human limitations and infirmities. But this should be our standard. Our aim should be to be able to say with Paul, "I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God." A continual fellowship with God in prayer, a faithful study of the condition and needs of our people, a diligent and daily study of Gods' Word, and a faithful effort to do as well as we know and to live a consistent, obedient life will bring us constantly nearer the heaven-approved standard.—Gospel Herald.

To Our Correspondents

We are glad to receive your items, but if they arrive later than Wednesday noon hereafter, we will not insure their publication. We also will appreciate the efforts of our correspondents much more if they will omit neighborhood visits from their items. It is all right to tell about your friends and relatives from distant towns or counties visiting with you, but we have no time to set type for neighborhood visits and trifling mention. Such items as births, deaths, bad sickness, farm improvements of all kinds, road improvements, loss of property and other items of real interest to the general public.

Public Auction!

400,000 Acres State Land in Eastern Colorado—directly
Served by Rock Island Lines

The State Land Board of Colorado will offer this land at Colorado Springs, beginning Sept. 3, 1914, and at Limon, beginning Sept. 10, 1914. One-tenth of the purchase price cash at time of sale, the balance in 18 equal annual payments with interest at 6 per cent.

The law provides that the land can be sold only to persons who will become actual settlers and at not less than the appraised value. Most of the land has been appraised at $5.00 per acre. This sale is a great opportunity to buy good land cheap—most of the cost to be paid out of the returns from the land.

Inspect the land before the sale and select the exact place you want for a home.

Low fares for the round trip via Rock Island Lines.
